Lest We Forget

"They say, who have come back from over there, that at night the troubled earth between the lines is carpeted with pain. They say that Death rides whistling on every wind, and that the very mists are charged with awful torment.

"In this renaissance of our country's valor, we, who will edge the wedge of her assault, make calm acceptance of its hazards. For us, the steel-swept trench, the stiffening cold—weariness, hardship, worse. For you, for whom we go, you millions safe at home—what for you?

"We shall need food. We shall need care. We shall need clothes for our bodies and weapons for our hands. We shall need terribly and without failure supplies and equipment in a stream that is constant and never-ending. From you, who are our resource and reliance, who are the heart and hope of that humanity for which we smite and strive, must come these things.

This will offer a good opportunity to some to help this cause by their culinary art. Here is a good chance for cooks to show their prowess with Hooverized materials.

The Commencement exercises of the San Jose Normal were held last week, and in the class night program Campbell was well represented two of the prominent characters in the pageant being impersonated by Adelbert Campbell and Wendell Hawkinson. C. U. H. S. alumni who received Normal diplomas at this time were, Adelbert Campbell, Wendell Hawkinson, Alice Johnson, and Beatrice Watkins, and Amy Farley, Elementary Drawing.

A party of high school boys went to the Big Basin Saturday to enjoy a two week's outing before the rush of fruit work is on. Those in the party are Max and Roy Bartholomew, George Guhe, Rudolph Hoerler, Howard Sturtevant and Courtland Watson. Others may join them for a few days.

Do not forget that the supply of labor and materials is limited. If you ask a worker to make something for you, he can not make something for the Government at the same time, and he can not use the same material both for your needs and for the Government's needs.

If you will think more of saving than of spending you will be surprised to learn that there are many things which you do not need after all.

Life on the Wave

The following interesting letters were received last week by W. D. Sturtevant from his son, Elwood, who is with Uncle Sam's "jolly jack tars," general delivery, Pacific ocean.

U. S. S. "——", May 20.

Dear Dad:

To-day is mail day but so far haven't any, but here's hoping. Received my photos the other day but they are not very good. Will mail them when I get some way of closing up a package.

The boys all had a pleasant surprise the middle of last week. Some girls' school of Helena, Montana, made a comfort bag for everyman in the crew and they were fine.

Mine was a bag with draw string with the letters "U. S. S.——" on it in white. Inside was a sewing kit, a pair of scissors, trench mirror, bar of soap, wash rag, waterproof bag to keep soap and rag, a pipe and Durham, a Hershey chocolate, gum, pencil, shoe strings and envelope with views of Helena and a story cut out of Sat. Eve. Post. On the envelope was the girl's address who made the bag. Immediately sat down and wrote a letter to her the contents remaining very confidential. The outfit must have cost quite a little besides several hours' hard work and believe me the boys were very grateful. There are still some rumors of our going into dry dock right away but can never be sure.

In about two weeks I expect you will be ready to start to Myers. By the time this letter gets home you will have had lots of fun and will be wondering if you caught all the fish. Remember, Dad, be sure to drink lots of water and "lay off the coffee."

I went on the beach yesterday and took in a movie and chow, Ham and 3 eggs, French fried spuds, bread, butter and coffee, green apple pie a la mode, all for $1.20 Mex. Maybe it isn't a relief to eat some real chow once in a while. So far as I know there are no restrictions on food here.

The rains have commenced here but the air is very sultry. I will be glad when September comes again. Your letters all speak of dry weather at home, wish you had some of that moisture wasted here.

I go on watch at 8 bells (noon) so will end this with lots of love.

ELWOOD.

May 28.

We are getting under way at noon for —— and I don't go on watch until four. I was ashore fishing at—— yesterday and had only one bite. I hunted all over town to find a native with hooks and lines for sale.

One of our boatswain mates caught a 14½ foot shark yesterday. All hands helped secure it and hoist it on top side. Our cook carved it up and got the backbone and teeth. They make canes out of the bone and jewelry curios from the teeth.

A bunch of us, about fifty, have to march in Memorial parade Thursday. I was stung, but the rest of the crew have to go to church.

Expect drydock next week, not even the officers are sure of it. Want to see a couple of places there. A bulletin was posted last night saying that bell hops, servants, waiters and others not engaged in actual production were to be called and former classes abolished.

I am surprised at the —— attitude, in not buying bonds. Surely they must know that if we win they are A-1 investment, if we lose it does not matter.

We get plenty to eat but it is so different from home. They gave us three prunes apiece for breakfast one day last week so I guess the price is pretty good this year. I have a hunch that dried fruit is going to be much more in demand than fresh or canned. We get peaches, apples and apricots once in a while.

There is a big swell in the bay and this old battle-wagon rolls to beat the band. She has a record of rolling farther than any other ship in the navy. Sixty-one degrees was officially logged.

I just heard our mail orderly say that there were 1900 bags of States mail coming today on a Maru boat. This ship ought to get about four or five bags. The next mail will probably be the transport.

With love,
EL.

5 lb packages, 40c.

Restrictions by means of certificates will control the sugar stocks of all dealers, wholesale and retail, after July 10. So we were informed by Mr. H. B. Martin, county administrator, over the telephone last Monday. In the meanwhile retailer's purchases are limited to a five day's supply.

Consumers will in all probability also be, subject to some form of arbitrary regulation by certificate or card. The object of this, of course, is to assure each person his or her share of the available sweetening.

Thruout the war period we may look for a continuous succession of food rulings, all with a view to the public welfare. In England such rulings are said to average one a day. We must learn to accept these things as a matter of course; and the sooner this frame of mind is reached the better, for there is being wasted an immense amount of time and energy in expression of opinions, "feelings", protestations that are useless.

Immediate acceptance of new conditions as they arise, and quick forgetfulness for the moment of the more favored past will add much to personal and public efficiency.

TURKISH MARK TWAIN

KHOJA OF AQSHEHIR IS EMPIRE'S RENOWNED HUMORIST.

Flourished Five Centuries Ago, But His Wit Is Remembered and Appreciated Today — Specimens That Have Been Translated.

"While the arts and sciences have languished under the sultans' rule; while the technology of a thousand years ago is still widely employed in supplying the wants of the Turkish populace; while all social progress has been left too largely to the unhurried care of fate, the Ottoman empire has, nevertheless, produced one creative genius, the Khoja of Aqshehir, the renowned humorist around whose name all the fun of a nation has gathered," begins a bulletin issued by the National Geographic society, which tells of the great man born, nurtured and buried in Aqshehir five centuries ago. The bulletin continues:

"Khoja Nasr ed-Din was an Imam, a sort of Mohammedan country parson, a naive, illiterate, happy-go-lucky fellow, part clown, part gentle philosopher, and altogether thoroughly comical and human. The reason of the Khoja's existence was his legion of funny adventures. He was a remiss priest, a shiftless citizen and an exasperating husband. His native town lies about 110 miles from Konia, in Asia Minor, and is situated picturesquely in the mountains. Here is his grave, where his body reposes, and the lock of his house, which he insisted upon taking with him.

"The Khoja was a contemporary of Tamerlane's and served the conqueror as a privileged court jester. Now the Khoja is a saint to people of his town and his grave works miracles. The stories told of the Khoja are without number; they are the humor of Turkey and the legacy of the olden funmaster.

"He was an evasive priest and sought fearfully to escape his religious duties, such as the preaching of sermons. He dreaded the task of delivering a sermon and won his first fame in squirming out of this duty.

"'Oh, Moslems,' he said one Friday in the pulpit, 'do you know what I am going to say to you?' 'No,' they answered. 'And no more do I,' the Khoja said and left the mosque. Next Friday he put the same question and, thinking to catch him, the congregation answered, 'Yes.' 'If you do, then I needn't tell you,' the philosopher replied, and made off again. The following Friday, to his usual question the congregation sought to entrap him with the answer, 'Some of us do, but some of us don't.' 'Then let those who know tell those who don't,' the Khoja said, and went away. On the next Friday the congregation decided to keep silent and see what their priest would do. The Khoja put his set inquiry and, receiving no response, made this evasion: 'Dear me! I am quite alone; nobody has come to mosque today.' Whereupon he went home.

"The Khoja and two friends bought a ram and two lambs in the market, each paying an equal share. Arriving home, his friends asked how they should make the division. 'That's easy,' said the Khoja, 'You two will take one lamb, and the ram and I the other.'

"His wife woke him one night from a surly sleep and asked him to rock the baby. 'It has been crying for an hour,' she said, 'and now it's your turn to rock it, as half of it is yours.' 'Let my half go on crying,' he yawned, turning over. 'You can go on rocking your half, if you want to.'

"The Khoja dreamed one night that someone was offering him nine coins. He was not satisfied, but wanted ten. In the midst of the trouble he awoke and found his hand empty. Bitterly disappointed, he closed his eyes again, held out his hand and said, 'I have changed my mind. I will take nine.'

"One day the Khoja left his cloak upon his donkey and a thief made off with the garment during the master's absence. Discovering his loss, the Khoja berated the donkey thoroughly, demanding what it had done with his cloak. Receiving no reply, he took the saddle off the beast and said, 'Very well, then, when you give me back my cloak I will give you back your saddle.'

"The Khoja put his cow up for sale. His auctioneer took it through the streets, calling out, 'Who will buy a fine cow, a cow whose milk is like cream?' 'Dear me,' the Khoja muttered to himself, 'what a lucky thing it is that I heard him say that. I had no idea before that she was such a good milker. I could not possibly think of selling her now,' and he took his cow back home."

DEATH RATE IN BELGIUM IS HIGH

Under German Occupation, Ill Treatment and Poor Food Kill Thousands.

WORSE THAN AN EPIDEMIC

Mortality in Civil Life Greater Than on Battlefield—Situation Can Only Be Worse, Says Legation—One Execution Daily.

Washington.—The existing death rate in Belgium is as high as at the time of the most terrible epidemics and greater than that on the battle field, due to the extremities to which German occupation has reduced the country. In addition, at least one Belgian daily is executed by the German authorities, according to a statement made public by the Belgian legation. The statement came from Havre and read as follows:

"Not taking into account the losses on the field of battle Belgium has suffered heavily in its civilian population through the invasion and occupation of its territory by the Germans.

"1. Civilians killed during the invasion, August-September, 1914—Although we are not yet in possession of a complete list of the civilians killed by the Germans during those fateful days, we know the number of victims to be well over 5,000. For the following provinces we have approximate estimates: Namur, more than 1,800; Luxembourg about 1,200; Liege, more than 1,000; Brabant, 897; Hainaut, about 300. Most of these victims fell in the towns where, under pretext of the existence of sharpshooters, German fury knew no limits. Dinant counted 606 victims; Andenne, more than 200; Tamines, more than 400; Louvain, 210; Aerschot, about 150; Namur, about 75.

Deportees' Death Rate High.

"2. Among the deportees the mortality resulting from privations, ill treatment, underfeeding, etc., exceeds largely the normal percentage of deaths. Some, too, have met death on the battle fields, where the Germans forced them to do auxiliary work. If we possess ample information about individual places and undeniable testimony on the broken health of the returned deportees in general, we are, however, unable to quote figures.

"3. The electrified wire which makes the Belgians prisoners in their own country accounts for a great number of victims, especially among young people, who try to escape in order to join the army, or among couriers, who try to smuggle news in or out of Belgium. In less than a year, between August, 1916, and July, 1917, 160 persons were electrocuted. Since then the average number of victims has increased, owing to the strengthening of the guards and the putting up of new wires.

"4. The death penalty, pronounced by the German military courts for crimes of patriotism, levies a heavy toll on the population. It is estimated that each day one Belgian at least suffers the supreme penalty.

"The unsatisfactory food situation, due to the requisition of the home-grown foodstuffs and the sinking of many relief ships, the use of unsuitable substitutes, the lack of fuel, as a result of the exploitation by Germany for her own consumption, and for exportation, of the Belgian coal fields, has dangerously increased the death rate.

"Deaths from hunger and cold are not unusual, but it is mostly indirectly that the underfeeding of the population causes numerous premature deaths, for, through lack of physical strength, many people are subject to rickets or pretuberculosis, and so become unable to resist slight illness which, under normal conditions, would not prove fatal. As to the bad effect of unsuitable substitutes, it will suffice to recall the diseases contracted by the deportees through the use of raw rutabagas and the paralysis of the brain and of the marrow or the special kind of jaundice provoked by the use of lupin seeds as a substitute for coffee berries.

White Plague Prevalent.

"The death rate all over Belgium, but especially in the large towns, is as high as at the time of the most terrible epidemics. A Brussels paper, appearing with the consent of the German censorship, admits that 'there are more civilian dead from lack of sufficient food than Belgian soldiers fallen on the battlefield.' On the other hand, a report on the 'Work of the War Orphans' in Belgium shows that in 1917 there were fewer orphans of soldiers fallen in the war than of civilians killed during the same period and of deportees dead in consequence of their deportation.

"Cardiac affections and cerebral hemorrhages account for the greater part of the deaths, tuberculosis, especially under the form of tubercular meningitis, for almost as many. Typhoid fever, caused by the occupying army, has occasionally levied a heavy toll on the civilian population.

"The situation in 1918 can only grow worse; it is undeniable that the physical standard of the nation is lowering dangerously and that the effects of the German occupation on the health of the people will make themselves felt for a long time after the war."

SCRATCHED RASPUTIN'S FACE

Mlle. Vera Smirnova is known to every Russian who has been in Petrograd within the last five years. Her marvelous contralto voice had won for her the most enviable position in court life.

She was the lioness of the most exclusive set of all of Russia, and she was the idol of the peasants of that ill-fated country. Her rendition of the Russian gypsy songs endeared her to all.

Traveling in the set she did, she was bound to come, sooner or later, to the notice of that famed mystic of all mystics—Rasputin, the Holy One of Russia.

For a long time the man who dominated Russia even more than the czar himself, had cast covetous eyes on the charming singer. Finally, the moment he had long wished for came during an entertainment held in the home of a grand duchess.

On the plea that he desired to talk with her on spiritual things, she went with him into the conservatory. When she realized his plans, she forgot that she was the guest of the grand duchess, forgot what the result might be, forgot her surroundings completely and almost tore into shreds the face of the Holy One. When Rasputin was questioned as to the cause of his scars, he replied that he had been wrestling with the spirits of evil controlling the fair Mlle. Vera.

Prince Youssoupov and his wife, Princess Irene, were the intimate friends of Mlle. Smirnova. Naturally she told her story of the encounter with Rasputin to them. The prince, already worked up to a pitch over a similar insult by Rasputin to Princess Irene, vowed that within 48 hours she would be revenged. Almost to the minute the body of Rasputin was found.

Mlle. Smirnova is now in this country, where she is helping to swell the coffers of the Red Cross fund by singing her loved gypsy songs to the people of her own country, in the language they understand.

Famine Stalks in Petrograd

Hams at $300 Each, Eggs 75 Cents Each, Are Examples of Food Scarcity.

BRITISH COLONY SUFFERING

Its 500 Members Appeal to Foreign Office to Send Supplies—Relatives Rob Each Other of Food.

London.—A dispatch to the London Times from Petrograd says:

"The famine in Petrograd is becoming positively alarming. There is practically no food in the markets or in the shops. Two-thirds, if not more, of the latter are permanently closed for want of goods of all kinds besides food stuffs. There is no flour, no sugar, no potatoes, cheese, or milk, no grain or groats, and very little meat. All is under control unless accidentally or privately obtained. The principal necessaries of life have to be got when possible through friends and chance acquaintances at enormous cost if you have money to pay for them, or as meager rations doled out by the authorities, and absolutely inadequate for subsistence. The present ration of indigestible black bread, half baked, with as much moisture as possible left in it to increase its weight, is one-eighth of a pound per day, and often that is not forthcoming on account of the hopeless disorder and universal thieving habit.

Rob Without Compunction.

"Relatives and dependents rob one another of food without compunction. Hunger has no conscience. If a morsel of anything is left on the plate for later consumption it will disappear as soon as you turn your back. Every scrap has to be put under lock and key after each meal. In my own case, the house committee which receives flour from the town authorities for distribution to us tenants could not account for nine poods (324 pounds) of flour, so that we all had to go without any bread for two days.

"In spite of special commissions and stringent measures against hoarding and speculation, profiteering goes on to a great extent among all classes. In fact, food is a far more valuable commodity than paper money and secretly circulates instead of it. All conversation indoors and out is about food and how to get it. Half the working day is wasted in pursuit of sufficient to eat.

"As an illustration of how far disorganization and greed can go, I may mention the fact that no fewer than fifteen carloads of rotten hares were recently brought into town and several attempts made to foist them on the municipal executives; but they were finally rejected and condemned. Good hares are being sold at £2 10 shillings apiece (nearly $12.50, according to the rate of exchange before the war.)

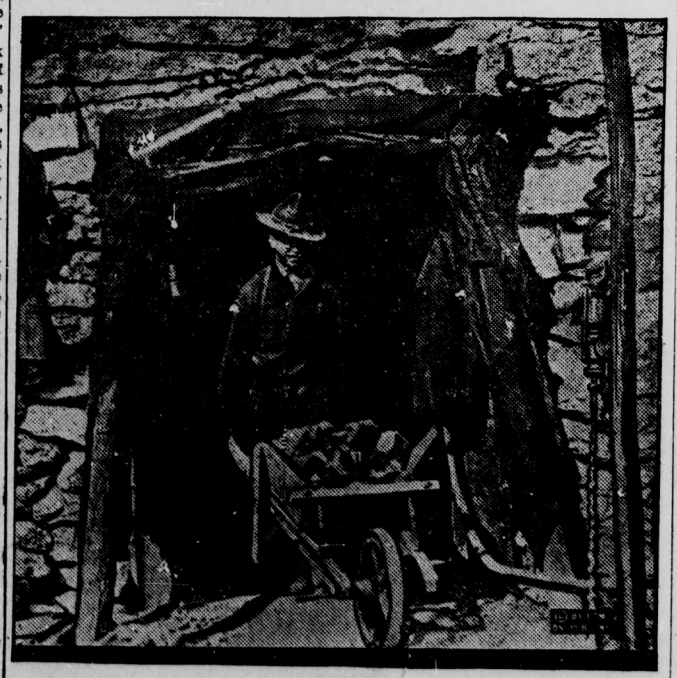
Hams at $300 Each.

"Prices of other articles are quite fabulous. Hams are offered at £40 and £60 each. Butter costs 42 shillings a pound; cheese, 3 shillings a pound; white flour, 30 shillings a pound; eggs, 3 shillings apiece; carrots, 5 shillings a pound; potatoes, 6 shillings a pound. With the exception of occasional limited sales most of these articles can only be obtained privately.

"In these circumstances the British community in Petrograd, which is now reduced perhaps to about 500 persons who are unable for various reasons to leave Russia, felt obliged to induce the British consul and the incumbent of the English church to wire to London for a few edible supplies to help us tide over this serious crisis. I am told that a telegram to this effect has been sent to the foreign office, but so far no assistance is forthcoming. We do not want luxuries, but a few cases of crushed oats, for example, some sugar, margarine, and flour, would be a god-send.

"There has been no essential improvement of internal affairs here. On the contrary, the situation in many respects has been going from bad to worse."

U. S. ENGINEERS EXTEND TRENCH LINES



American engineers are doing splendid work in extending and perfecting the trench system in the American sector in France. Demolished walls and ruined buildings are considered especially valuable for the establishment of intermediate depots and posts. This American engineer is converting a tunnel into a post command by the quick methods known to army constructors.

HOW CORN IS UTILIZED

Numerous Products Are Manufactured From the Raw Material

In food production per acre, corn excels all other staple crops. In pounds of protein produced per acre it is exceeded only by soy beans and beans, says the United States department of agriculture. The great stock feeding and dairy industries of the country are based largely upon the corn crop, as are also important manufacturing industries, such as starch, glucose, corn oil, and related products, various food products, and alcoholic beverages.

Corn is the great feed crop of the nation. Fed with legumes and grasses it is unequaled as an economical raw material for the production of meat, and butter. Because its high starch and oil content makes it primarily a fat-producin feed, corn is of almost inestimable value in finishing stock for market. The remarkable development of the pork industry in this country has been due to the high feed value and abundant yields of the corn crop. Of all types of stock feeding, the pork industry is associated most closely with the corn crop.

Of the 85 per cent of the crop consumed on the farm, all except a small percentage milled for human food is used for stock feeding. The extent of the dependence of the feeding industry upon the corn yields is indicated by the fairly consistent relationship maintained between corn and live-stock prices. By far the greater part of the corn used in feeding is fed as ear corn, with the dry stalks and blades used as roughage, either as pasturage in the field or as cut stover. To a less extent the grain is fed in the form of shelled corn, milled products, and various manufactured feedstuffs. Another form in which corn is largely fed is silage. Silage, at present, is of more importance to the dairy industry than to the stock-feeding industry, but its use in fattening steers is increasing rapidly. Its most extensive use is found in the sections where dairying is a leading type of farming. While the silo has become a more or less familiar sight to almost every section where corn is grown, it is used most extensively in Wisconsin, Michigan, Indiana, Ohio, New York, and New England. It is used also largely in other states of the corn belt and in the central Eastern states.

Among the common cornmeal dishes eaten in the South are hoe-cake, a mixture of cornmeal and water with or without salt, cooked in a frying pan or griddle; corn bread or pone, made with the addition of baking powder or its equivalent and baked in the oven; griddle cakes, prepared from a thin batter with the addition of a leavening agent; egg or spoon bread, differing from ordinary corn bread in that eggs are used; and corn dumplings, usually cooked with either meat or vegetables. Cornmeal is used in puddings, waffles, poultry dressing, meat, and fish dishes.

In the North, where corn products are consumed to a less extent, the preference is usually given to meal made from yellow corn, although the so-called hominy (grits) made from white corn is a common breakfast cereal. Hasty pudding (corn mush) and Johnny cake (corresponding to the hoe-cake of the South) have been made in New England households since colonial days. Indian pudding, a popular dessert prepared from cornmeal, milk, and eggs, has long been regarded as one of the necessary adjuncts to the New England Thanksgivin dinner.

Other forms in which corn is consumed are grits, consisting of the hard portions of the kernels, but not milled so finely as meal, eaten as a breakfast cereal or as a side dish with meats; hominy, the same as grits but milled more coarsely; and lye hominy, or hulled corn, prepared from the whole grain after removal of the hull with caustic soda. The latter products are usually eaten as dinner dishes and serve largely to replace vegetables.

Aside from its direct uses for stock food and for human food, corn is the raw material from which numerous products are manufactured. These products include articles both suitable and not suitable for food purposes.

Baseball "Aces" Magnets When En Route and Help to Keep Turnstile Spinning

The ball club that has to worry along without a playing "ace" is a back number as a drawing card on the road.

The outstanding stars are the "aces" in the big show, for their names are kept before the public, and the fans go out to see them perform. Without them in the lineups of big league clubs many and many thousands of dollars would wander away from the turnstiles.

Tyrus Raymond Cobb.

The "aces" are the biggest assets the magnates can boast of, and if you will lamp the rosters of the sixteen major league clubs you will find at least one player on nearly every roster who figures as the real drawing card of the team on the road.

Tyrus Raymond Cobb is the greatest drawing card in the business. He is worth more to Detroit on the road than all the rest of her players put together, for the fans in rival towns go out largely to see Cobb, unless the Tigers are up there fighting for a pennant, and the rabids in small towns within easy riding distance of the big league cities never miss a chance to be on the job when Cobb is billed to cavort at the ball park. So Cobb alone is worth thousands of dollars to Detroit at the turnstiles in the course of a season.

Laundrymen and War Conditions.

Now it is the laundrymen's turn to feel the pinch of war conditions. They formerly used caustic potash in combination with soap for bleaching purposes. But now that potash is almost unobtainable, a good substitute has become necessary. The increase in the price of soap has made the need acute. And now comes a satisfactory domestic bleach. Three pounds of trisodium phosphate to 25 pounds of soap is the formula.—Popular Science Monthly.

FOR THE POULTRY GROWER

(By the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Owners of back yards in cities and towns are asked to do everything in their power to help the meat and egg supply by raising small flocks of poultry in back yards. Farmers are requested greatly to increase their farm flocks of hens so that 100 on every farm will be the average for the nation.

The following statement regarding the poultry needs is taken from the official agricultural program for 1918 issued recently by the United States department of agriculture:

"Poultry production should be increased greatly, especially in back yards and on farms, where waste material is available and the purchase of expensive grains and other material is not required.

"Increased poultry production may be attained most economically by early hatching; by confining mother hens at least ten days after the chicks are hatched; by reducing losses on account of rats, weasels and thieves, and from cold, damp conditions; by thorough sanitation; by discouraging the marketing of early-hatched pullets as broilers; by eliminating non-producing hens and keeping good layers through at least two laying seasons; and by the poultryman raising his own feed as far as possible."

Foch's Name Not Teutonic; Almost Rhymes With "Hush"

Numerous inquiries have been received regarding the correct pronunciation of the name of the new generalissimo of the allied armies.

On paper Foch seems Teutonic, says the Chicago Herald, and suggests throaty gutturals of the kind that are no longer popular in the civilized world. But the name is pronounced as if it were spelled Fosh, with a short "o," like "uh," and almost rhymes with "hush." This is on the authority of Le Courier des Etats Unis, a French daily newspaper published in New York.

General Foch is a Basque from the Pyrenees, not an Alsatian. All Basque names terminating in "ch" have the soft "sh" sound instead of the Germanic guttural.

Brief and Breezy.

It is usually the bottom dollar that counts.

Strong butter is a poor apology for weak coffee.

Happiness is often the price of being commonplace.

To do right is easy when sin ceases to be pleasure.

Love is a word of four letters except in a breach of promise suit.

Without decision of character no man or woman ever amounts to much.

HOW THIS NERVOUS WOMAN GOT WELL

Told by Herself. Her Sincerity Should Convince Others.

Christopher, Ill.—"For four years I suffered from irregularities, weakness, nervousness, and was in a run down condition. Two of our best doctors failed to do me any good. I heard so much about what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for others, I tried it and was cured. I am no longer nervous, am regular, and in excellent health. I believe the Compound will cure any female trouble."—Mrs. ALICE HELLER, Christopher, Ill.

Nervousness is often a symptom of weakness or some functional derangement, which may be overcome by this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as thousands of women have found by experience.

If complications exist, write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for suggestions in regard to your ailment. The result of its long experience is at your service.

CALOMEL TODAY, SICK TOMORROW

Dose of nasty calomel makes you sick and you lose a day's work.

Calomel salivates! It's mercury. Calomel acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver. When calomel comes into contact with sour bile it crashes into it, causing cramping and nausea.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

If you take calomel today you'll be sick and nauseated tomorrow; besides, it may salivate you, while if you take Dodson's Liver Tone you will wake up feeling great, full of ambition and ready for work or play. It's harmless, pleasant and safe to give to children; they like it.—Adv.

GREATER TIME IS COMING.

I

Not listenin' to the trouble-song,
Or worryin' 'bout the weather,
From time to time we've pulled along
We've gone the road together;
Dark and day
We went the way—
Broke from Trouble's tether.

II

We've seen the deadly lightnin' fly
And heard the thunder drummin',
And this we know, from what's gone by:
Though hurricanes are hummin',
Dark and day
We'll make the way—
The greater time's a-comin'!

Bessie's Interpretation.

Little Bess, who is in the second grade, startled her parents by insisting that her teacher was all the time calling for cigarettes. Her mother was so puzzled over this that she visited the school one afternoon to find out what the child meant by such a charge. In a little while the mystery was solved, for the teacher, glancing around the room, called out to the pupils: "Sit erect, sit erect!"

Bessie looked at her mother and blurted out, triumphantly: "There, mamma, didn't I tell you?"—Boston Transcript.

AS A SUPPORT for exhausted, nervous, overworked women, nothing can do as much as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It regulates and assists all the natural functions, never conflicts with them, and it strengthens and builds up the female system in a way of its own.

Nursing mothers and women generally, will find it exactly fitted to their needs. It lessens the pains and burdens, and ensures healthy, vigorous offspring.

You will escape many ills and clear up the coated tongue, the sallow complexion, the dull headache, the lazy liver, if you will take a pleasant laxative made up of the May-apple, juice of the leaves of aloes, root of jalap, and called "Pleasant Pellets." You can obtain at almost any drug store in this country these vegetable pellets in vials for twenty-five cents—simply ask for Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. Sold for fifty years. —Adv.

THE BIG GUN

We've made us a gun, a giant gun,
That never the world has known;
Its thunder-flame leaps up to the sun
And touches the highest Throne.
Mere kings and crowns are blown from its path,
To uttermost darkness hurled—
For this is the gun of a people's wrath!
Its range is around the world!

We've made us a gun, a glowing gun,
A gun of the steel of youth;
Its bore is a pit the bad must shun,
Its bed is the rock of truth.
Jehovah's fingers have set its sight,
To carry his righteous curse—
For this is the gun of a Nation's might!
Its arc is the universe!

We've made us a gun, a master-gun,
Whose rumble can shake the earth,
The lithe wolves shall flee from the fields they've won—
In shiv'ring orbits high—
For this is the gun of a people's voice
And evil it bids to die!

We've made us a gun, a godly gun,
That even the saints may bless;
It frights the knave from the side of the nun
Who prayed for death's caress.
All cannon voices to silence fall,
Whenever its words begin—
For this is the gun of a Nation's call,
And its shell speaks only "Win!"
—N. Y. World.

Dr. Pierce's Pellets are best for liver bowels and stomach. One little Pellet for a laxative—three for a cathartic. —Adv.

THE BOYS OVER THERE.

Don't you hear the message that's a-ringin' far and clear—
Message from the Boys Over There?
"Keep the home lights shinin' and we'll do the fightin' here!"—
Message from the Boys Over There!
"Goin' good an' strong!
Sweepin' right along!"—
Don't you catch the meaning of the music in the song?

Winds of all the oceans on their mighty wings to bear
Message from the Boys Over There:
"We got the Huns a-goin', and we'll whip 'em everywhere!"—
Message from the Boys Over There!
"Goin' good an' strong!
Sweepin' right along!"—
Join the thrillin' chorus of the stirrin' battle song!

Battle cry of Freedom for their country, loved and dear—
Message from the Boys Over There!
Don't you glimpse "Old Glory" through the fallin' of a tear—
Not for the Boys Over There!
For they're goin' good an' strong—
They're sweepin' right along!
Join the joyful chorus of their mighty battle song!

IN MY GARDEN.

Not a formal garden
With its well-groomed beds—
Growing scentless blossoms,
Waving haughty heads.

But a friendly tangle
Of the columbine,
Hollyhocks and roses,
Morning-glory vine.

Paths that lead to mazes
Of the growing things;
Guided by their perfume,
Stirred by robins' wings.

Rioting and twining
Without gardener's art,
Summer in my garden
Is summer in my heart.

The Editor's Mate.

A country editor, who is also an authority on certain industrial matters, recently came up to town, bringing his wife wtih him.

This good woman was one afternoon the guest of a rather patronizing clubwoman.

"So your husband is an editor?" the latter asked.

"Yes."

"Since you have no family and have considerable leisure on your hands, I dare say you assist him in his editorial work?"

"Oh, yes," said the editor's wife, who is also his cook, "I edit nearly all his inside matter."

Quandary.

"I'm doubtful whether to economize on clothes or food."

"What do you mean?"

"I don't know whether to wear this last year's straw hat or let the goat eat it."

A Dreadful Calamity.

"Smith's exclamation when he found the condition of his boot was harrowing."

"Why harrowing?"

"Because it was the cry of a lost sole."

15,000 POUNDS MEAT A MINUTE GOING TO ALLIES

One Hog Out of Every Four Being Sent Abroad.

Shipments of meat have been going to the allies for some time at the rate of 15,000 pounds a minute. As the shipments are kept up during a ten hour day they amount to 9,000,000 pounds daily. The meat goes to soldiers of the United States and the allies and to the civilian population of all the countries at war with Germany.

These statements were made by a prominent representative of the United States Food Administration.

No industry in the country has played a more important part in helping to win the war than the American live-stock and meat-packing industry.

Swift & Company alone has been forwarding over 500 car loads of meat and meat products per week for overseas shipment.

It Works! Try It

Tells how to loosen a sore, tender corn so it lifts out without pain.

No humbug! Any corn, whether hard, soft or between the toes, will loosen right up and lift out, without a particle of pain or soreness.

This drug is called freezone and is a compound of ether discovered by a Cincinnati man.

Ask at any drug store for a small bottle of freezone, which will cost but a trifle, but is sufficient to rid one's feet of every corn or callus.

Put a few drops directly upon any tender, aching corn or callus. Instantly the soreness disappears and shortly the corn or callus will loosen and can be lifted off with the fingers.

This drug freezone doesn't eat out the corns or calluses but shrivels them without even irritating the surrounding skin.

Just think! No pain at all; no soreness or smarting when applying it or afterwards. If your druggist don't have freezone have him order it for you.—Adv.

Voters of Campbell Township

I am a candidate for re-election. I have tried to be strictly impartial in arrests, have been controlled by the spirit of compromise, where minors are the delinquents, and have tried to obey the law as it defines the duties of my office.

I thank you for your support in the past, and I hope for it in the August and November elections of 1918.

T. L. SHARP,
Constable C. T.

NOTICE

Thanking the voters of Campbell Township for their generous support of me as Justice of the Peace in the past nine years, and trusting. I may still have their suffrage, I hereby announce myself for re-election.

A. J. FARLEY,
Justice of the Peace
Campbell Township.

To The Voters of Campbell Township

I solicit your votes at the coming Primary election for the office of Constable of the township. I am a native American of French (Alsatian) descent, have been both a workingman and an employer, have been affiliated with the Democratic party but have not always voted a straight ticket when I thought that the country would be better served by scratching, was raised a Catholic but believe that a man's religion is his own business, do not believe in kaiserism either in Europe or America, will not make a house to house canvass for votes as I believe that voters should make up their own minds as to whom they wish to vote, for. A m familiar with the laws as I have served terms as deputy sheriff and constable in a northern county and if elected will endeavor to do my duty without fear or favor, to the best of my ability.

Equal Assessments, Courtesy, and a Square Deal.

Do not expect our men to die for you if you are not worth living for. Show our Army snd Navy that you are worthy of protection. Save to the utmost of your ability and buy W. S. S. with your savings.

SCRAPS o' savin's over here will help save the Scrap "over there." The educational campaign instituted thru the thrift stamp is beginning to make itself felt all along the line and saving of everything for something is quite the rage. If this patriotic people will continue the good work of conservation "our boys" and our allies will be saved from the Hun and the world saved for democracy.

"There are three classes of people in the United States, as well as in other nations. The idle rich, the working middle class, and the idle poor, or the hobo class. The middle class is compelled to do enough work and to produce enough to keep themselves and to support in idleness the other two classes. This is not just, it is not right. It stands to reason that if all three of these classes produced enough to support themselves the working class that now is would have an abundance, or would have more than half their time left for rest and recreation.

Why should you, a member of the middle class, be compelled to work to support yourself and two others who are just as able to work as you are? Again, the working man has nothing to fear from a draft of labor. The Government does not draft men who are already soldiers, nor those who are willing to volunteer. Only those who are able for military duty and who will not volunteer are drafted. So in regard to labor. Those who want to work will be employed and paid for the work as usual. Those who are able to work, but are not willing should be compelled to do their share. The New Jersey law recently passed is about what is needed. The law there provides that if any one is found without employment he is offered a job at fair wages by the authorities. If he accepts it well and good; if not, he has his choice to leave the state or be placed at work for the State."—Ex.

Local and Personal

Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Ellison spent the week-end at their cottage at the Call-of-the-Wild.

Mrs. Olaf Strom and daughters are enjoying a vacation at the coast, while David is visiting his uncle at Laton.

Mrs. J. E. Crawford was taken to Columbia Hospital the first of the week for treatment for stomach trouble.

The C. R. Stoller family has returned from Santa Cruz where they have spent a number of weeks and are at present domiciled in San Jose.

Misses Catherine Cooper and Eleanor Carter went to Sacramento Wednesday as delegates from the local Christian Endeavor to the state convention in session the rest of the week.

Mrs. J. F. Moyle and children of Oakland were guests of Mrs. Lillian Olds Tuesday, going into San Jose Wednesday to visit Mrs. J. E. Palmer.

The Rucker estate on Santa Clara road has been sold to Mr. Duley of San Francisco. That gentleman plans on making his home in San Jose and A. H. Osborn will continue in charge of the ranch.

WOMAN'S PART IN STATE WAR SAVINGS

Organization of U.S. Societies Great Opportunity for Patriotic Women---Says Mrs. Edward Dexter Knight.

By MRS. EDWARD DEXTER KNIGHT
(Chairman War-Savings Societies Division)

Woman's part in the War-Savings work will be no small one. As a first step in the development thereof the organization of a Speakers Committee is being perfected. This committee will be representative of every county in Northern California. In San Francisco these speakers are being gathered together in groups of twenty at the Committee Headquarters, 742 Market Street, every Friday morning at ten o'clock. At this time the general phases of the War-Savings work are explained in detail by Mr. John S. Drum, State Director. The speakers go forth from the instruction room inspired with the War-Savings message and imbued with the desire to organize War-Savings Societies. County Directors all through the state are organizing similar committees.

With the assistance of these speakers a volunteer army is being formed for the purpose of interesting existing clubs, fraternal and church societies and other organizations as well as proprietors of department stores, superintendents of factories and other manufacturing institutions and all other supervisors of working groups. It is expected that every class-room in public and private schools will soon include a War-Savings Society.

The real purpose of this branch of the work is to perpetuate the sale of War-Savings Certificates and to create a National habit of thrift.

The Emporium, Hale Bros., The White House and O'Connor, Moffatt & Co., are among the first of the large department stores in San Francisco to organize their employees in this way. In some of these, one large Society embraces the membership of the working force. In others various departments will be grouped and several Societies will vie with one another for a banner record.

Help Is Needed

A week from Saturday, July 13th, is the election at which the voters are called upon to provide our school with sufficient funds to cover the coming year's expenses and make it possible for the trustees to give the teachers a necessary raise in salary.

This is not the only district where there is a shortage of school money but all over the state steps are being taken to raise money so that the present standards of efficiency may be maintained.

One district was contemplating reducing its teaching crops but that is a serious step backward and ought not to be permitted. Now, more than ever, our Nation will need well educated and properly equipped children, ready to take their places in a world largely depleted of young men.

We all know how the household and business budget has had to be increased to meet the high prices and the school must do the same, but the people must provide the means.

Large Limit Club

The local postoffice reports the sale of Thrift and W. S. S. as follows.

Sold to May 31	$6591.73
" During June	6332.17
	$12,923.90

These are cash sales, not pledges.

In the campaign recently conducted Campbell districts have the following "Limit Club,' which is larger in proportion to the size of the town than any other in the county; J. C. Ainsley, Mrs. A. M. Ainsley, F. Baumgartner, W. C. Bogen, John Brynteson, Mrs. Abi M. Butler, B. O. Curry, John F. Duncan, E. L. Fellows, John L. Hagelin, Mrs. S. N. Hedegard, L. Hiatt, Geo. E. Hyde, Miss Lucy Joy, A. C. Keesling, Mrs. Agnes Leigh, A. V. McCarty, Mrs. Ida M. Thomas and S. G. Rodeck.

Class Entertained

Mrs. Emily Gard and daughter were home from Berkeley summer school for the week-end. Saturday afternoon Mrs. Gard entertained her younger music pupils at a party, at which they also participated in a musical program, playing the following numbers:

Water Lily — Ducelle — Clarice Frost
The Zephyr and The Violet — Robert Holmes
Little Red Riding Hood — Kroeger — Elma Zabel
The Doll's Dream — Florence Thurston
Reading — Rose Broadie
Moon Flower — Fearis — Emily Duncan
Melody of Love — Engleman — May Smith
Reading — Ruth Brown
Joyous Maytime — Lichner — Patrice Smith
(a) Song Without Words — Holzel
(b) Filth Nocturne — Leybach — Irene Preston
(a) Watchman — Grieg
(b) Little Bird — Grieg — Wilma Smith

Music-games and other amusements, including the service of ice-cream and waters made a very pleasant afternoon.

Get Up Steam

Everybody needs full steam ahead. Fire up your body engine with potatoes. They supply the kind of fuel you need for hard work. Eat them three times a day and keep fit.

A 6-ounce potato—medium to small in any part of the country and almost microscopic in the West—provides as much fuel as one and one-half ounces of bread, or a great big slice.

Write the United States Department of Agriculture for new potato recipes.

Seal Used on Our Paper Money.

A relic of the revolutionary days when we were not yet a nation still remains on our paper money, says the Popular Science Monthly. The seal which appears on every bill issued by the government contains the abbreviated words "Thesaur. Amer. Septent. Sigil." The full phrase is "Thesauri Americana Septentriomalis Sigillum," which simply means "Seal of the Treasury of North America." Our distinguished ancestors felt that if a thing were to be said with dignity, it had to be said in Latin.

Spanish Pronunciations.

The Goths, an ancient Germanic, barbaric people, pronounced like moths; Moors, inhabitants of Morocco, pronounced like boors; mantilla, accent on second syllable; Valladolid, a city of Spain, pronounced Val-ya-do-leed, accent on last syllable; Cervantes, Spanish novelist, author of "Don Quixote," pronounced Thayr-von-tace, accent on second syllable. In the Spanish language c before e and i has the sound of the English th and is pronounced thay. Seville, city in Spain, is pronounced Say-veel. Burgos, a province and city of Spain, is pronounced Boor-goce.

Choosing a Wife.

It was Sir John More, father of the more famous Sir Thomas, who said: "I would compare the multitude of women which are to be chosen for wives unto a bag full of snakes having among them a single eel. Now, if a man should put his hand into this bag, he may chance to light on the eel; but it is a hundred to one he shall be stung by a snake." Sir John had evidently lighted on a "snake," which accounts for his lack of chivalry.
